Celia Hay

My passion for great food, wine and education was the motivating force that led me to establish the New Zealand School of Food & Wine in 1995. In 2022, I was honoured to receive the Sir George Fistonich Medal in recognition of services to New Zealand Wine.

The demand for highly-skilled, innovative graduates in the wine, restaurant and tourism sector is higher than ever, with almost limitless career opportunities available around the globe.

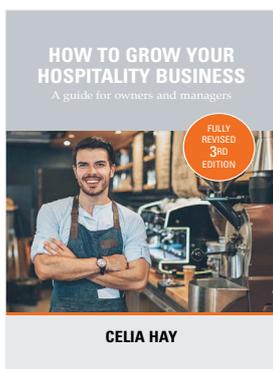

Food and wine brings people together in a unique way. It's natural for us to share and celebrate what we eat and drink. What's more, education remains the key tool to help people transform their lives and careers.

This wonderful combination of learning about cooking and wine can become a true recipe for personal fulfilment.

Celia Hay BA, MBA, MEd, DipWSET
Director

Publications

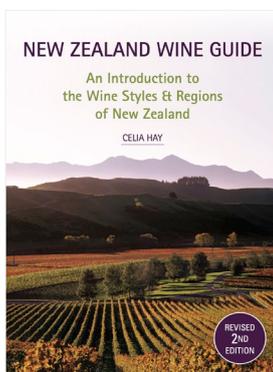

Celia Hay has written two excellent publications, which can be used as a valuable professional resource and for those with a keen interest in food and wine.

How to Grow your Hospitality Business is an essential tool for those in the hospitality sector.

The third edition takes into account the developments in dining style and innovative concepts, business compliance and marketing advice including the huge impact of the growth in digital marketing and social media.

For aspiring owners as well as managers and students of hospitality, this book is a must. For people wanting to set up their own business, you can also attend workshops at the New Zealand School of Food and Wine.

The spectacular growth of New Zealand's wine industry has attracted worldwide attention. A selection of local maps, explanations of vine growing, and winemaking processes, illustrated with helpful photographs and diagrams, makes this book an invaluable resource.

Kevin Judd's breathtaking photographs dramatically illustrate vineyard life in these beautiful winegrowing regions of New Zealand.

The New Zealand Wine Guide is the Winner of the Gourmand Awards national competition for New Zealand, in category W1'8 Wine Tourism and category W3-3 Wine Photography.

Both the books can be purchased online via www.celiahay.com or at our premises.

Certificate in Professional Wine Knowledge, Level 5

Develop your palate as well as your theoretical knowledge with extensive wine tasting and discussion throughout the course.

INTRODUCTION

This qualification provides the winery, retail, hospitality, hotel, and tourism sectors with individuals who are able to apply knowledge of international wine, spirits and alcoholic beverages, and their markets, to work in customer services, sales, or leadership roles.

This programme forms the first semester of the Diploma in Professional Wine Management (Sommelier), Level 6.

MODULE 1

The business of hospitality, wineries and food & wine tourism

Through a series of wine and beverage tastings, you will learn how wine and food tourism experiences underpin the success of many wine regions around the world.

We will also look at the market conditions required to build successful food and wine destinations that offer high quality customer experiences through the distinctive wines they produce.

MODULE 2

New Zealand wine styles, regions, innovation and influential producers

This module introduces the grape varieties that have established New Zealand's reputation as a country producing distinctive, quality wines.

We will look at prominent wineries and winemakers who continue to enhance brand values and stories behind their international success.

MODULE 3

Customer service, sales, bartending and sommelier skills

The key to enhancing the customer experience is to develop communication skills that demonstrate a comprehensive understanding of wine, spirits, cocktails and other beverages as well as confidence in customer service.

This module looks at the practical skills required to advise, sell and serve wine and other beverages. It includes a food and wine pairing workshop and participation in organizing and running a wine tasting event.

MODULE 4

International wine styles, grape varieties, wine production & regions

Around the world, styles of wine are influenced by the climate and conditions of regions and the grape varieties that are grown. Through a series of tastings, this module explores important international grape varieties that dominate European and New World wine regions. We look at viticulture and the wine making process for white, red, sparkling and sweet wines.

MODULE 5

Spirits, liqueurs, fortified wines, cocktails & bartending

We will taste and evaluate principal spirits and liqueurs styles and develop an understanding of the major international brands.

Included are practical sessions that explain how to set up a bar for service and make classic and premium cocktails.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Graduates will be suitable as a wine and spirit professional in all fields of the hospitality, service and wine industries.

PATHWAYS TO FURTHER STUDY

Graduates can return to NZSFW to gain the New Zealand Diploma in Professional Wine Management (Sommelier), Level 6 or the Certificate in Cookery, Level 4.

Diploma in Professional Wine Management (Sommelier), Level 6

New opportunities for careers in wine are becoming increasingly available, reflecting global interest and demand for fine wines.

INTRODUCTION

This qualification will provide the winery, hospitality, hotel, and tourism sectors with individuals who are able to apply a comprehensive knowledge of global wine, spirit and alcoholic beverages to enhance the customer service relationships, brand values and destination marketing initiatives.

This programme consists of two semesters. Semester one covers the Certificate in Professional Wine Knowledge, Level 5 and Semester two adds additional modules to form the Diploma in Professional Wine Management, Level 6.

MODULE 1 – 5

Described on Certificate in Professional Wine Knowledge, Level 5 page.

MODULE 6

Sales management: Retail sales, Cellar door, Food & wine tourism

Build practical skills, using a range of platforms and techniques, to manage sales and promotional activities starting with Google ads, Google analytics and Social media. It includes a research project to investigate the business case to establish a food and wine cellar door operation.

MODULE 7

Wine marketing management

This module looks at contemporary marketing strategies to build and enhance brands values and customer experience. It includes the opportunity for you to experience developing an online wine sales strategy using web and social media tools.

MODULE 8

Viticulture and winemaking practices with sustainability focus

Understand the influence of soils and climate on viticulture, sustainability, organics and biodynamics.

Gain technical knowledge about winemaking including the influence of oak, oxygen, yeasts and bacteria. You will also produce your own fruit wine and sourdough bread using natural yeasts and tour the Kumeu River Winery.

In this module, we will use as the textbook, The Science of Wine (3rd. Ed) by Dr Jamie Goode.

MODULE 9

Manage, train and mentor junior staff to enhance the customer experience

Career development and training of junior staff is the key to building an effective and customer-focused team. In this module, we look at strategies to ensure excellence in customer service standards along with how to develop hospitality training plans and Leadership management skills.

MODULE 10

Specialist International wine regions and sake

In this module, we study the wine regions of Australia, Toscana in Italy and Sake, the noble beverage from Japan.

This is an opportunity to look in more depth at these important regions as they are enormously popular with consumers and offer interesting case studies for us to consider.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Graduates of this qualification will have the skills and knowledge to work across a wide range of winery, retail, hospitality, hotel and tourism businesses as wine and beverage professionals. Roles may include food and beverage supervisor, cellar door host/supervisor, and wine sales representative.

Corporate and Group Events

These events are a great way for your colleagues, partners and clients to have a fun and rewarding team building experience at the New Zealand School of Food & Wine.

KITCHEN CONFIDENTIAL

Grab your chef's toque and apron to prepare and cook dinner. In small teams of 3-5 participants, supervised by NZSFW's trained chef tutors, you will create a four-course restaurant standard meal. Ingredients are laid out in advance with your recipe workbook. Enjoy a delicious dinner, paired with fine wines in our dining room as a fitting conclusion to a great evening.

FOOD AND WINE DYNAMICS

The mysteries of successful food and wine pairings will be revealed as your group enjoys discovering how your palette works and why certain foods enhance, while others detract from the wine experience.

OPTION 1: Tasting plate with 8 classic NZ wines

OPTION 2: A six-course gastronomic tasting menu with 10 classic wine matches.

RESTAURANT FOR A NIGHT

Create your very own restaurant experience with your team in the roles of sous chef, maitre'd, sommelier and waiter. This is all made possible with the expert guidance of the New Zealand School of Food & Wine's professional staff, who will enable you to treat your colleagues, your clients or even your friends to a wonderful meal.
